NEW Video Storage Pro 2500 500GB Hard Disk – Back up for Professional Video Cameras

Region4 Pty Ltd today announces the release of Video Storage Pro 2500 500GB Hard Disk from NextoDI – Ideal for the Video Professional on the go!

Video Storage Pro from NextoDI is a completely standalone, portable SxS and P2 raw video storage device designed for professional videographers. Featuring extremely fast backup from most forms of flash media to an internal hard drive and an integrated 2.4" LCD screen allowing you to review the footage the NVS2500 is invaluable in-the-field.

“With the advent of modern professional flash formats, and the elimination of relatively inexpensive master tapes, video production professionals are facing high media costs when out in the field” says Callum Hingston, Managing Director of Region4. He continues “The introduction of the Video Storage Pro allows expensive flash media cards to be used multiple times when out on a shoot, by providing a high speed, verified and robust lower cost backup that can then connect directly into editing systems”.

The NVS2500 is a reliable and easy to use solution when you are on location. It can backup hundreds of hours of raw footage right where you are; you do not need your laptop and you can eliminate the need to carry multiple storage cards. Patented X-Copy technology makes it possible to achieve an ultra fast data transfer rate of 80MB/s. The NVS2500 has its own rechargeable battery that can be recharged in an emergency or power outage from the included AA battery pack, mains charger or car charger.

With its high performance, reliability, multiple options for recharging and shock protection with free fall sensor offering enhanced data protection the NextoDI Video Storage Pro is an indispensable tool for all Video Professionals on the go.

When back in the studio the Video Storage Pro connects directly to your non-linear editing suite, via Firewire, USB or eSATA connections allowing instant access to your content.

The Video Storage Pro 2500 500GB Hard Disk has a retail price of $2,599 including GST and is available NOW from Region4 resellers throughout Australia.
